At The Fair, Lester Smith Is Always Frying Oysters

EPHREATA — Lester Smith has been making oyster sandwiches longer than many people have been eating them. Last week at the Ephrata Fair, he and other East Cocalico Lions Club members and helpers prepared approximately 9,000 fried oysters.

Smith became a Lion about 44 years ago, about 35 of which he's been helping man the stand at the fair. He's one of four charter members. The club's fair trailer puts the old stand to shame, Smith remembered it just so fondly.

"The first one we had to hammer together in sections," he said, smiling. He joked that it was finally together right by the end of the fair.

An elderly man came to be waited on, and asked what was on the menu. "Do you want an oyster sandwich?" Smith asked. His power of suggestion was the customer order.

"I never learned to like oysters. Claims yes, but not oysters," Smith said. Of course even an oyster enthusiast may lose his taste for them after preparing so many. As he talked, his wife, Katherine, and two other women, "patted oysters." They coated them with cracker and bread crumbs before Smith added the fragrant touch of frying them. Smith said his wife's been doing that for as long as he's been helping out.

"That's the secret of the oysters. People won't do it. It's too much work," he said.

"I love it. I really love it. You meet so many nice people. They remember you year after year," said Smith.

He's retired from full-time work, but about seven years ago, he started hunting for rocks to make jewelry. He and his wife enjoy the company of other senior citizens. They like eating out and playing miniature golf.

"They travel to Penn State football games with their daughter, Kay Schlegel. Overall, they wouldn't want to miss their grandson, Michael, playing in the Penn State Blue Band.

Smith's philosophy is to keep busy and stay interested. He certainly did that last week at the fair. He laughs easily, so it's no wonder his customers remember him from one year to the next.

NEWSLETTER

(The signs of the participating markets above are not in any particular order.)

For about 20 years East Cocalico Lions Club has conducted food drives at local markets to benefit the food bank of Ephrata Area Social Services, usually twice per year. This past October 21st & 22nd, with the help of Akron LC, Ephrata LC, and Baron Stiegel LC we set a new record for donations from the shoppers: 360 boxes (nearly 7 tons!) and over $900 in cash. The generosity of individuals within the community and the cooperation of local clubs have made this an outstanding achievement and a program we hope to continue and expand. We Serve, indeed!

July 20 & 21: Summer Food Drive, local markets

You may remember from the November edition of the ECL newsletter that we celebrated (okay, maybe boasted) that we had achieved, with the help of Akron, Ephrata, & Baron Stiegel LCs, a new record for donations collected on behalf on Ephrata Area Social Services. The program has been conducted twice a year for as long as I've been a Lion, and it's coming around again this July. But there's a problem: due to a variety of circumstances recruitment of volunteers has been delayed and there's a real potential of having to cancel for July.

As I understand it, this project was started by Lion Bob Weaver a couple of decades ago, and ECL has been pleased and proud of the support and volunteers from Region 3 Clubs (as well as others). It's kind of late to be trolling for volunteers, but if there aren't enough individuals to distribute the scheduling to reasonable shifts of two to three hours, then it just won't happen.

This is an important community service, and costs the Clubs and volunteer participants nothing but time. So, if you've helped us in the past or know fellow Lions (and Lady Lions) who have helped, please get in touch with Lion Bob ( 717-330-3421 ), Lion Chuck ( holz1123@yahoo.com ), or me ( cslegel@dejazzd.com, 717-335-0347 ).

TIA, Lion Carl
